12-sat constellation

At an outlay Rs 1,200 crore over a five year period a consortium of private satellite makers led by Pixxel Space India will launch a constellation of 12 satellites to beef up India's security, marine surveillance, earth observation, climate monitoring and others, said Indian National Space Promotion and Authorisation Centre (IN-SPACe). IN-SPACe is the regulator for the private space sector players in the country. According to IN-SPACe the 12 state of art earth observation satellites will be equipped with panchromatic, multispectral, hyperspectral, and microwave synthetic aperture radar (SAR) sensors.

The constellation will deliver Analysis Ready Data (ARD) and Value-Added Services (VAS) for applications in climate change monitoring, disaster management, agriculture, infrastructure, marine surveillance, national security, and urban planning, while also catering to the global demand for high-quality geospatial intelligence, IN-SPACe said.

The consortium led by PixxelSpace India comprise of Piersight Space, Satsure Analytics India, and Dhruva Space, will design, build, and operate India's first fully indigenous commercial Earth Observation (EO) satellite under the pioneering Public-Private Partnership (EO-PPP) model.

Phased manner

According to IN-SPACe, the earth observation constellation will be deployed in a phased manner over the next four years to ensure continuous service upgrades and expanded coverage. Once operational, it will be among the most advanced earth observation systems in the world, designed, built, and operated entirely in India by Indian talent, IN-SPACe added.

IN-SPACe said three consortia were shortlisted, viz., Astra Microwave Products Limited, Hyderabad (with Bharat Electronics Ltd., Sisir Radar & Spectragaze Systems) GalaxEye Space, Bengaluru (with CoreEL) PixxelSpace India Pvt. Ltd., Bengaluru (with Piersight Space, Satsure Analytics India, and Dhruva Space).

Following the financial bid assessment, the PixxelSpace India-led consortium emerged as the successful bidder. By generating high-resolution, indigenous satellite data, the initiative will significantly reduce India's reliance on foreign sources, ensure data sovereignty, and position the country among the global leaders in space-based data solutions.

Pawan Goenka, chairman, IN-SPACe, said, "This initiative signals the coming of age of India's private space industry in the space sector. It demonstrates the capability and confidence of Indian companies to lead large-scale, technologically advanced, and commercially viable space missions that serve both national and global markets. The EO-PPP model fosters an ecosystem where public and private capabilities reinforce each other to drive growth, innovation, and self-reliance." Under the PPP framework, the Government of India will provide strategic, technical, and policy support, while the PixxelSpace India-led consortium will own and operate the earth observation constellation, including satellite manufacturing, launches from Indian soil, ground infrastructure, and commercialisation of data services.

Rajeev Jyoti, technical director, IN-SPACe, said, "All three shortlisted bidders submitted excellent technical and business plans, underscoring the growing maturity of India's private space capabilities. This project is about building India's own independent and future-ready geospatial infrastructure. It will lead to Atmanirbharta (self-reliance) in high-resolution optical and radar data for India, catalyse innovation, create thousands of high-skill jobs, and contribute directly to our goal of growing India's space economy from $8.4 billion in 2022 to $44 billion by 2033."

Relations with India, Pak stable, asserts US official

Washington D.C., Aug 13: The United States maintains strong and stable relations with both India and Pakistan, the US State Department has affirmed, stressing that American diplomacy is committed to supporting both nations.

At a media briefing on Tuesday, State Department spokesperson Tammy Bruce stated that the US's engagement with New Delhi and Islamabad is "good news for the region and the world."

"Our relationship with both nations is as it has been, which is good," Bruce said. "This is the benefit of having a President who knows everyone and talks to everyone. Our diplomats are clearly committed to both countries."

Bruce was responding to a question about possible increased US arms assistance to Pakistan following Army Chief Field Marshal Asim Munir's meeting with former President Donald Trump, and whether it affects Trump's ties with Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Commenting on the May border flare-up between India and Pakistan, Bruce said the US leadership moved quickly to prevent escalation. "There was immediate concern and immediate action," she said, citing interventions by Vice President J D Vance, President Trump, and Secretary of State Marco Rubio. "We made calls, took steps to stop attacks, and brought both parties together for a more lasting outcome."

However, New Delhi continues to assert that the de-escalation was a result of direct military-level talks between India and Pakistan, without third-party mediation. Bruce also referenced the recent peace agreement between Armenia and Azerbaijan as part of a broader pattern of successful US-brokered diplomacy, including past

ASEAN can help revamp UN, avers Malaysia

Kuala Lumpur, Aug 13: The Association of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN) can play a more proactive role in reforming the United Nations (UN) to enable it to address mounting global challenges and questions over the organisation's credibility, participants at a forum heard here on Tuesday.

In his remarks at a forum on the topic "The United Nations and Multilateralism", United Nations Association of Malaysia (UNAM) president Mustapa Mohamed said Malaysia, which is also the chair of the ASEAN grouping for 2025, has long held a principled foreign policy and longstanding advocacy for justice and international law, strengthening its standing to champion reform within the UN.

"We are deeply concerned by the increasing challenges facing multilateralism and the United Nations. The credibility and effectiveness of the UN are being questioned at a time when global cooperation is more critical than ever," he said.

"Malaysia, together with ASEAN, should take a proactive role in advocating for urgent reform of the United Nations. We reaffirm our commitment to the principles enshrined in the UN Charter, and call for reforms that reflect today's global realities. We believe in a UN that is capable of strengthening global governance and promoting peace, prosperity, and sustainability for all nations," he added.

Meanwhile, Universiti Sains Malaysia's professor emeritus Johan Saravananmuttu said that despite its flaws, the UN remains the most comprehensive and universal platform for addressing pressing global challenges, explaining that parallel efforts by states, middle powers, small powers, and other multilateral arrangements in various regions are key to helping achieve goals enshrined in the UN Charter.
